

Kamyar Guivetchi was appointed Manager of the Division of Statewide Integrated Water Management in August 2008 with the California Department of Water Resources (DWR); and before that managed DWR's Strategic Water Planning since November 2000. During his 35 years with DWR, Kamyar has worked on as many projects with the North-Central Region Office, Division of Planning, Bay-Delta Office, and the Division of Environmental Services as Manager of the Suisun Marsh Program.

Kamyar managed DWR staff work and coordinated the participation of numerous government agencies, Native American Tribes, stakeholders, and public to prepare the California Water Plan Updates 2005 & 2009 using a collaborative and consensus-seeking approach. He now chairs the 29-member State Agency Steering Committee for Water Plan Update 2013.

Kamyar has a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering and completed post graduate work in Environmental Engineering at the University of California, Davis; and is a California-registered Civil Engineer.
